February 16, 1959

Dear John:

Many thanks for your letter of 12 February 1959. I appreciate the thought in the first paragraph of your letter, but frankly I feel that someone should take over this job -- even assuming that my classmates would wish to do me this honor -- who has adequate time to give attention to it.

Many of our classmates are now reaching the age where they are retiring from active work and would probably enjoy the assignment, and would certainly have more time to give to it than I.

I enclose for your personal information a letter I have just received from [redacted] which is quite satisfactory. I also enclose a copy of my reply.

Looking forward to seeing you on the 27th.

Sincerely,

[Signature]
